

BIRMINGHAM 2022 JOBS BULLETIN

5th January 2021

In July 2022, Birmingham will host the 22nd Commonwealth Games, the largest multi-sport event to be held in England in 10 years.

Approximately 6,500 athletes and team officials from 71 nations and territories across the Commonwealth will come together in a 12-day celebration of sport and culture. Events will take place across Birmingham and the West Midlands, entertaining more than one million ticketed spectators and reaching a global broadcast audience of more than one billion.

Over the next two years we will have many different opportunities and ways to get involved, and we really encourage you to join in as we put West Midlands on the global map.

Producer (Creative Participation)

Closes 18th January 2021

Birmingham 2022 is looking for an outstanding Producer who can ensure participatory engagement is achieved and maximised across cultural commissions and partnership projects that form part of the Games' region-wide arts festival. A key player in the culture team, the postholder will focus on projects that specifically engage children and young people, disabled people and vulnerable adults. In addition, they will hold a 360 view on creative participation opportunities across the wider Ceremonies, Culture and Queen's Baton Relay programmes within the overall context of the Games' ambitions for public engagement.

The successful candidate will have a 'people-first' approach and have significant experience of delivering public engagement and participation programmes in multi-art form contexts. They will know what quality integrated and inclusive arts participation looks like in practice, and likely have some pre-existing knowledge of the culture, community and/or arts landscape of Birmingham and/or the West Midlands.
